

The Highway to Success

There is, to-day as yesterday, no avenue of opportunity closed to the man who strives earnestly for success.

The man of wealth clips coupons from his bonds—and so, to-day, may his humblest employe.

The man of wealth probably began at the bottom and, like the ambitious worker of to-day, looked into the future, made up his mind what he wanted to be, and then by hard work, frugality and wise investment won his way to success.

The highway of success is open to-day to every man who is willing to pay the price in hard work and strict economy.

First the savings account, then the bond, the home, the business—all on the highway to success. Any man who will may follow it. He only needs to pay the price.

WATERBURY

Mrs. Addie Palmer, 75, Keen and Interested in All Events of the Day.

Mrs. Addie Hartshorne Palmer, widow of Honorable Edwin F. Palmer, passed her 75th birthday last Friday and is one of those who can now look back, telling to younger generations much of interest. Mrs. Palmer is very active, keen in intellect and at her pleasant home on Union street passes the time pleasantly with her reading and flowers. Friday she spent the afternoon with the family of her son in Duxbury, where she had several callers. She was remembered with cards, flowers and gifts from members of the family and friends away.

Addie D. Hartshorne was born in Giddishall and was educated in the public schools and at Giddishall academy. She is the daughter of William H. and Della (Cutler) Hartshorne, her father being a prominent man in that locality. He was proprietor for years of the Essex house in that town, was county clerk and later judge of probate, also town clerk for years, his wife being elected to that office after his decease. He twice represented his town in the legislature and also served a term as county senator.

Mrs. Palmer thus early acquired a knowledge of public affairs, which developed also during Mr. Palmer's lifetime and has kept a keen interest in current matters. She was married to Edwin F. Palmer June 15, 1865, who was then in the home service and later came to Waterbury, where Mr. Palmer was for years a prominent attorney. In his work as court reporter and state superintendent of education, she assisted him greatly in clerical work.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer were obliged several years ago to give up three lovely daughters and Mr. Palmer died eight years ago, but there still live four sons and their families, including three grandchildren, and a brother and sister.

Mrs. Palmer tells many things of interest of her girlhood days, among them one of her melodeon, which was the only one in town and which her father carried to church each Sunday and upon which she played. She also tells interestingly of social, political and church life in this town. To her the greetings of many more will come for continued years of health and strength.

Miss Blanche Morse is recovering from an operation for appendicitis at the Heaton hospital.

Many will wish to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Edwards to-morrow upon their 50th wedding anniversary. They will keep open house from 3 to 9 p. m.

This evening at 8 o'clock will be the free public lecture by Dr. J. F. Walsh of New York City on "Americanism." This is under the auspices of Galligan council, Knights of Columbus, and will be in the opera house. Speaker will be introduced by Dr. J. C. O'Neill.

In the evening, dancing will be enjoyed, music by six-piece orchestra from Montpelier. Card tables in the community rooms on the first floor, prizes to be given, ice cream and cake in evening.

"Ma Sweet and Her Darts" was presented to a good house at the town hall Saturday evening under the auspices of Dillingham grange. Miss Maude McMullin succeeded well with her talented family. J. Smith, president of the board of trade, was present and gave a good talk on the community fair and community spirit. Refreshments were served and a promenade enjoyed.

Presents for To-day and To-morrow

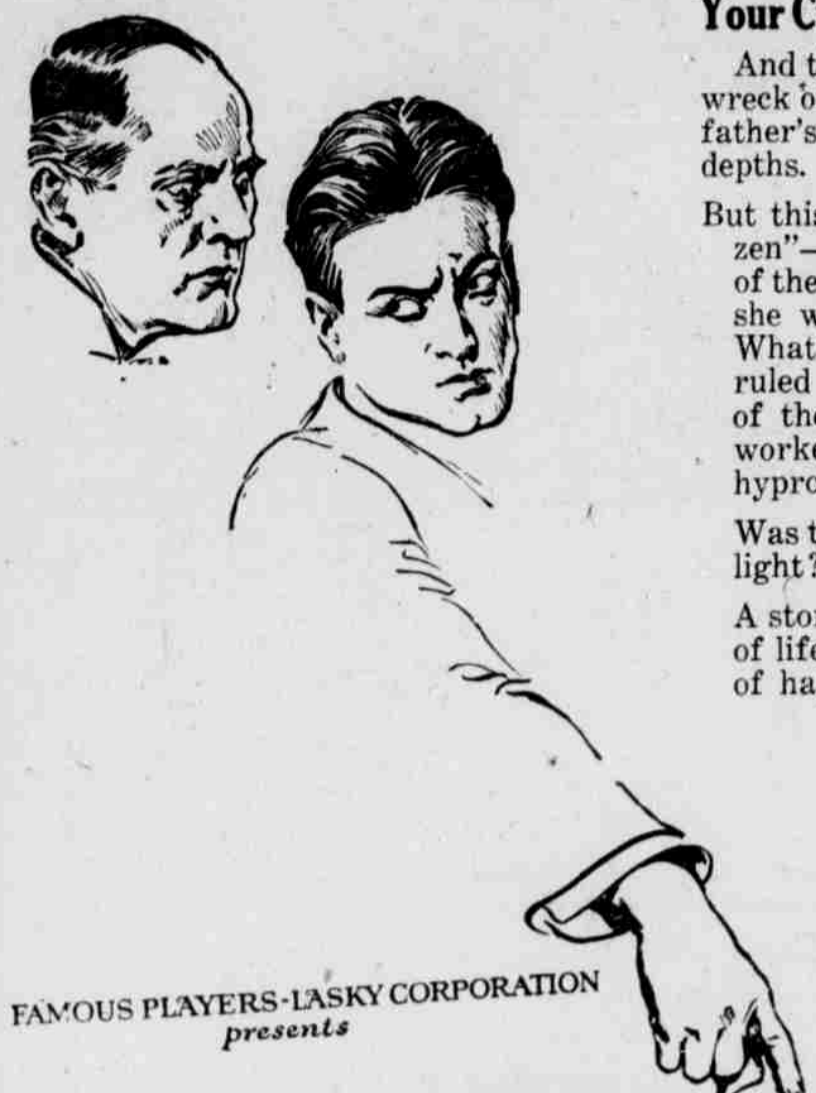

Your Cursed Pride Did That!

And the boy, soul-sick at the wreck of his love, flung out of his father's home and sank to the depths.

But this smug "foremost citizen"—what of him? What of the girl who gave up when she wasn't fit for his son? What of his church that was ruled by hypocrites? What of the thousands of honest workers whose lives these hypocrites darkened?

Was there any way up to the light?—Only one!

A story that turns the dregs of life to the sparkling wine of happiness.

THE LOVE EXPERT

LOOK OUT! FOLKS—

The Love Expert's in town hookin' the unmarried ones. She's going to knock a flock of 'em for a row of Altars before she's through. If you see anybody blushing or timid-like, as if they wanted encouragement, call us up—but better still, amble down and see.

She knew her soul mate the moment she clasped hands with him, but to get him she first had to marry off his entire family. Talk about a miracle worker, Zowie! Old ones or cold ones, longs or blondes, veterans or youngsters, she matched 'em like Grant took Richmond. "The Virtuous Vamp" and "In Search of a Sinner" were so very, very good, it wouldn't do to miss "The Love Expert."

HOBART BOSWORTH

—IN—

The Brute Master

from the story by Mrs. Jack London. Distributed by W. W. Hodkinson Corp.

Hobart Bosworth in "The Brute Master." The very words have a resonant ring to them—and they will be ten thousand times more effective outside your theatre in electric lights.

No other male star is in Mr. Bosworth's class. He stands alone in the delineation of rugged, virile, two-fisted, hairy-chested he-men.

Over a period of years he has been adding steadily to his popularity—adding new laurels to his crown—building up a following which enthusiastically acclaims him king in his chosen field.

When he was seen in "Behind the Door," they said: "This is the greatest thing that Hobart Bosworth has ever done; it is the greatest thing he can ever do."

But he set all predictions at naught, for his next picture was "Below the Surface." And you, Mr. Exhibitor, know what sort of a picture that was.

Therefore, need we say more than that, in the "Brute Master" he has a role compared with which anything that has gone before pales into insignificance.
